FRIDAY APRIL 26.

A PROCLAMATION.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

By an enactment of the Legislature of Wisconsin, the Executive is authorized to designate a day to be known as Arbor Day, to be observed by the people of this state in planting trees for the benefit and adornment of school and public grounds.

Now, therefore, I, William D. Hoard, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, do appoint and designate Tuesday, the 30th day of April, as Arbor Day, and I do request all schools and colleges to observe the same by "suitable exercises, having for their object the imparting of knowledge of horticulture in the department known as arboriculture in the adornment of school and public grounds," and further recommend that the day be a holiday in all schools and colleges in promoting the objects of the law.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the great seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the capital, in (GREAT SEAL) Madison, this eighteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

GOOD FOR CANADA.

The United States can afford to pay off the debt of Canada as a testimony of gratitude for enacting a law by which the dominion will soon cease to be a refuge for the thieves of this country. The passage of Dr. Welden's bill by the house of commons makes it certain that this fleeing to Canada will come to an end. The provisions of the bill are that thieves, bootleggers, and embezzlers, and all bank or corporation employees guilty of fraud will be held by Canada subject to call from this country (as well as all others) the only condition being that the government to which the offender is surrendered must give a guarantee that he will be tried only for the offense for which he is extradited.

There is some regret expressed that the bill is not retrospective in its character. But there were strong grounds for striking that clause out of the bill, and on the whole, of course, it is better that it was done. It is true that there are many rascals in Canada who should be in some penitentiary in the United States, but the wisdom of getting them by a retrospective act was doubtful policy by the Canadian house of commons, and so it did a thing good enough to pass the Welden bill. The United States will greatly profit by this measure. There will not be the inducements hereafter for persons to commit crime and trust to finding a haven of refuge in Canada. The very fact that the dominion was such a safe retreat for bootleggers, embezzlers, and bank defaulters, has rather encouraged these crimes in the United States. On this subject the Chicago Tribune makes these pertinent remarks: "Canada will not get rid of these she has on hand, but she will have the happiness of knowing that their number will not be increased, and that for the future she will be free from any further criminal accession to her population. As a Roland for her Oliver the United States will be bound in honor next winter, if no extradition treaty can be arranged, to reciprocate by the passage of a bill in similar terms, authorizing the Canadians to reclaim any of their criminals who shall seek a refuge here. We must give them as good as they have given us and in full measure. This is one article of exchange in which the United States should and will be willing to have absolute, unrestricted, and everlasting reciprocity."

THE GROWTH OF CITIES IN THE SOUTH.

Gath in the Omicron Enquirer: One of the greatest and best revolutions in the south is in the building up of cities and towns. Jefferson, of whom old Mrs. Trollope said that he had taught a world of mischief, despairing of making any towns in Virginia while it had slavery, and indeed seeing the towns there out of existence rather than come in, such as Dumfries, and Colchester and Port Royal, exclaimed that they were the destroyers of liberty. On the contrary, liberty always commenced in cities and the best truth and poetry says that cities were the bulwarks of freedom. When the country parts of England were abjectly kneeling to the Stuarts and their stith for absolute power, cities like London rallied to the side of parliament and the commonwealth and brought about the overthrow of that dynasty in the course of half a century, and with the fall of that dynasty came a change over Europe at large. The expulsion of the Stuarts was the ultimate humiliation of Louis XIV. The southern cities, are its glory, and yet these cities, for pure traditions are sustaining a political philosophy ironical to themselves. At the time of the rebellion the social accommodations in the south were Arabian rather than Christian, so that Toombs, of Georgia, who lived in an old settled town remarked that they had no tavern because they did not need any. "Anybody of sufficient quality," said Toombs, "can come to my house and stop." If this was not pure aristocracy of the Arabian sort, what was it? A single man dominated the town, and his selection of guests was to be conclusive. If a man of more independence than himself preferred to stop at a hotel rather than stop under his roof and receive his kisses, Toombs thought that this was unreasonable. As cities arise in the South they are justfied in having good hotels, better cooking and a selection which is perfectly free. I would rather be tyrannized over with a club than be patronized and led around merely because I was a guest against my disposition.

Captain Hamilton Murrell, the gallant rescuer of the Danmark's passengers, deserves all the high praise which he is receiving. A young man to command an ocean steamer, he has an old head upon his shoulders. His coolness and self-possession were displayed most conspicuously when he directed the transfer of the passengers and crew from the sinking ship to his own decks. There was a high sea running at the time, and it was impossible for the boats to approach either vessel without imminent peril of being dashed to pieces. Captain Murrell, standing on the bridge of his steamer and smoking a cigar, without apparent concern or anxiety for the safety of the 738 Scandinavians, supervised the operation as quietly as he would have shipped a cargo of freight at a Philadelphia wharf. With ready invention, he devised an expedient by which every boat's load was transferred without difficulty or danger. A life-raft was attached to the Danmark and another to the Missouri, and the boats plied between the two. The passengers were lowered to the first raft, taken off without risk, landed on the second raft, and hoisted on board the Missouri at the convenience of those who were manning the ropes. It was an admirably arranged ferry from one vessel to the other, and with a high wind and heavy seas was operated so successfully that not a life was lost. When the transfer was completed Captain Murrell cast overboard his cargo and devoted himself with untiring energy and fidelity to ministering to the comfort of the hundreds of passengers committed to his care. It is not strange that every emigrant blessed him on his vessel, and that the women hung about him, eager to kiss his hands.

So good a republican paper as the Toledo Blade is making some unimpeachable remarks about John Sherman. After going over the election of Payne five years ago, it says:

"This is all Senator Sherman's fault. And that is a damned good thing to say in Ohio, and a legislature elected that will choose Senator Payne's successor, John Sherman takes himself off to Europe. Were it his own legislature that were to be elected he would doubtless stay at home, and the action that gives force to the claim of those who, not being able to understand how it happens that the legislature never goes democratic except when Sherman's colleague is to be elected, declare that Sherman does not want a republican colleague. The same idea was expressed in Detroit Saturday by S. R. Reed, who being asked how it happened that when Sherman was to be re-elected, the legislature always went republican, but when his colleague was to be selected it was always democratic, replied: 'John Sherman is a very adroit politician.'"

It is made to appear by other republican papers that Sherman would feel uncomfortable in the senate with a republican colleague.

Third party voters are already engaged in trying to explain the defeat of the amendment in Massachusetts. But they haven't a very difficult task to perform. The story can be told in a few words: The people in Massachusetts do not believe in prohibition by constitution.

WILD HORSES.

Bands of These Animals in the Mountains of Nevada.

We have all read of wild horses on the plains, but there are not many people who know that there are several bands in the mountains of Nevada. Such a horse nevertheless the case, and at least three bands have been seen in that country along the high hills near the Lander line. There is one group of seven or eight animals that is seen every summer on the very top of Shacknasty mountain southwest of Cortez. An old stallion is the kingpin of the herd. He is essentially a polygamist brute, as nothing but mares are ever seen in his company, and he is said to guard them with a fatherly care. Last summer some of the cowboys out in that section gave chase to the band for two or three days. When hotly pursued the old stallion was seen to drop in the rear and vigorously bite the others to make them accelerate their speed. He allows none to escape, and if a tame animal falls in his way it is taken along also. In a remarkably short time a domestic animal becomes as wild as the rest. These wild horses look especially large and fine when climbing the precipitous mountains. They can go anywhere a mountain sheep will go. But they do not bear close investigation. When caught they are found to be not much larger than a big greyhound. The boys out on the old Shad Wells ranch corralled one last season after a two days' hard drive over the hills. The poor little thing was not worth the effort. It completely broke his heart and constitution to be brought under the rules of civilization. As the boys expressed it, "He wasn't worth a short bit," and they now pay no attention whatever to the wild horses of Shacknasty mountain.

The Fatal Toothpick Habit.

A recent autopsy in Chicago revealed the fact that deceased had contracted the habit of swallowing toothpicks, which indigestible implements had perforated his vital organs in such a loathsome and unlooked-for manner as to lead to his demise. This fact is of vital interest to all thoughtful persons who have hitherto looked upon the toothpick as a harmless edible to be consumed in great quantities after each meal, and hereafter when a bowl of toothpicks is served as a last course the waiter may justly be regarded as having evil-minded designs. One of the varieties of toothpick the quill is the most pernicious, and Chicago surgeons declare that no man with more than forty goose-quill picks can expect to come out first in a mince pie struggle; and if while in this feeble condition he continues to absorb toothpicks gastric fever and peritonitis may suddenly call him away. Little by little science is enlightening the mysteries of nature. The toothpick must go.

ELIJAH M. HAINES DEAD.

THE NOTED ILLINOIS POLITICIAN PASSES AWAY.

Paralysis Suddenly Deprives the In-Historian of His Life-Sketch of His Career—Other Deaths.

Waukegan, Ill., April 26.—Elijah M. Haines, the well-known politician, member of the Legislature, and Indian historian, died at his residence here at 5 o'clock Thursday morning. His death was caused by paralysis.

Elijah M. Haines was born in Onondaga county, New York. He was a farmer's boy, and his father died when Elijah was 6 years of age. For five years after this Elijah lived with a neighboring farmer. In 1835 Elijah, with his brother, John C., came West, and the two reached Chicago in May of that year. There were only 500 people there at the time, and most of these were Indian traders. Elijah did not stay in Chicago long, and after a short time spent in Joliet he moved to what is now Lake county, Illinois, and began life again on a farm.

Elijah M. Haines was a youth of spirit, and despite the fact that there were no schools in the country and that he had to work hard to support his mother, he found time to learn Latin and German and also to become proficient in the art of surveying. Young Haines determined to study law and was admitted to the bar in 1851 and in 1860 opened a law office in Chicago. He kept his residence in Waukegan, however. It was in 1855 that Mr. Haines completed a compilation of the laws of Illinois relating to township organization, and the work so attracted the members of the Legislature that the public officers in each township were supplied with a copy. He also prepared similar compilations for several western States. He prepared a treatise on "The Powers and Duties of Justices of the Peace," which is at present a standard authority.

Mr. Haines was a man of the most independent character, and spoke his mind whenever he had occasion to, and when he dared politics he asserted himself, so that he was always a notable figure. The slavery question drove him from the Democratic party to the Republican. In 1859, 1861, and 1868 he represented Lake county in the Legislature. He commenced to agitate the anti-monopoly question in 1867, and two years later was elected to the constitutional convention as an independent and anti-monopoly candidate, defeating the Republican nominee by about 800 majority in a county which usually gave that party 1,500. In the constitutional convention there were eighty-five members, and the Republicans had but one majority, so that Mr. Haines held the balance of power, as he did in 1895 during the contest in the Legislature for the speakership and the United States Senatorship. Upon both occasions he acted independently, in one case being greatly instrumental in shaping the anti-monopoly element in the State constitution, and in the other being a power in the choice of a Senator. Mr. Haines was re-elected to the Legislature in 1870 and 1874, representing during the latter year, and under the apportionment of the new constitution, the counties of Lake and McHenry. At the session of 1875 came the contest for speaker of the House. The independents again held the balance of power, and Mr. Haines was elected speaker. He was re-elected in 1882 and 1884, serving again as speaker of the House at the session of 1885.

Mr. Haines was a member of the present Legislature.

A CANADIAN BLAZE.

Stanbridge, Quebec, the Scene of a Disastrous Fire.

St. ALBANS, Vt., April 26.—Stanbridge, Quebec, just across the Canadian line, was visited by a fire about 2:40 this morning, resulting in the destruction of the Canadian Pacific railway depot, freight house, engine-house, one engine, two passenger cars and eight freight cars, most of which were loaded. Seneger's general store, two hotels and several houses were also destroyed. The fire started in the railroad woodshed, and as the town is without a fire department, the buildings were at the mercy of the flames.

The loss is not known, probably about $25,000. Seneger's store was a new one, and is insured for $4,000. The insurance on both hotels is $7,000. An engine and hose-cart went from St. Albans to prevent the fire from spreading.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

Two Men Meet a Terrible Death in a Michigan Village.

HOMER, Mich., April 26.—James Connor of this village, and James Harris were killed by the premature explosion of dynamite this morning, three miles east of here, on the latter's premises. The two left a home blow and stump and had twenty-five pounds of dynamite. Their bodies were found blown five rods in opposite directions from where the explosion took place.

Corralled the Thieves.

New York, April 26.—Inspector Byrnes has started to rid the city of professional thieves for the centennial.

Last night he instructed his men to arrest every crook on sight. The detective-sergeants went out, and by midnight had over fifty prisoners confined in cells. They were bank snags, all-around thieves, pickpockets, hotel thieves, "badger" workers, and highwaymen. This morning the gang were arraigned at Jefferson market court and held in $1,500 bail for examination Saturday.

Forest Fires on Long Island.

FATCHOUR, N. Y., April 26.—Huge forest fires have been burning here for the last twelve hours, and six miles of weed land between Central Islip and Smithtown have been utterly consumed. Last night the blaze could be plainly seen for twenty miles. The fire was finally subdued after damage estimated at $50,000 had been done.

Pope Leo and the Jesuit Question.

LONDON, April 26.—Mr. Marcorer, premier of the provincial government of Quebec, Canada, has been called to Rome by Pope Leo to discuss the Jesuits' estates question. It is feared in highest quarters of Rome that the recent grant was imprudent in view of the agitation against Jesuits in Canada.

No Sunday Freight on the Grand Trunk.

MONTREAL, Que., April 26.—General Manager Glickson of the Grand Trunk railway has ordered that no freight trains, except those carrying live stock and perishable goods, be run on Sunday. It is stated that the Delaware & Hudson road is also in sympathy with the movement.

IN A BISHOP'S ROBES.

Dr. Grafton Formally Installed at Fond du Lac.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., April 26.—Never before in the history of Wisconsin, or perhaps in the history of the United States, has a ceremonial so elaborate been seen in any Episcopal church or cathedral as that witnessed Thursday in the beautiful St. Paul's cathedral. There father Grafton was formally and with great pomp and ceremony consecrated the bishop of the diocese of Fond du Lac. Over fifteen hundred people crowded the cathedral and nearly as many more stood outside. The cathedral choirboys were reinforced by about forty of the choir boys from All Saints' cathedral, Milwaukee, and the effect of the many voices, low and faint at first while the singers were outside the cathedral, but swelling into a grand triumphant burst of melody as they entered singing the processional hymn, was indescribably fine. As the clergy and chorists passed the altar, which was beautifully decked with flowers and festal vestings, all bowed in reverence and passed to their stalls, where they knelt in silent prayer. Then the chanting "Gloria Me Deus" was chanted, and then followed the celebration of the holy communion, Bishop McLaren of Chicago being the celebrant, Bishop Seymour of Springfield the epistole, and Bishop Knickerbocker of Indiana the gospeler.

The service was a full church one, the music being Cruikshank's mass in E flat. The "Kyrie Eleison" and "Gloria Tibi" were followed by the chanting of the Nicene creed, after which came the sermon, preached by Bishop Burgess of Quincy. Upon the conclusion of the sermon a hymn was sung, and then with one presenting bishop on either side Bishop-elect Grafton, who was vested simply with his robes, was presented to the presiding bishop, who thereupon demanded the testimonials, and those of the standing committee of the several dioceses, the assents of the bishops, certified by the presiding bishop to the consecrators, were accordingly read. This was followed by the chanting of the litany by the presiding bishop and the choir, after which came the examination. The attending presbyters then robed the bishop-elect in his chimeric. Then, all kneeling, the "Veni Creator Spiritus" was sung antiphonally by the presiding bishops and the choir, and immediately after came the imposition of hands by which the apostolic succession was conferred.

The newly created bishop of Fond du Lac was then presented with his pastoral staff, and, preceded by his staff-bearer and followed by the presiding bishops, was conducted to the Episcopal throne, after which "Deo Deum Laudamus," was sung. Then came the offertory anthem, the "Sursum Corda," and the "Sanctus Benedictus Qui Venit," and "Agnus Dei" of Cruikshank's mass followed. The Lord's prayer was then chanted, followed by the "Gloria in Excelsis," and the singing of the letters of the consecration by all the bishops present, after which the "Nunc Dimittis" was chanted, and after silent prayer the clergy and choir left the cathedral in the same order in which they entered, singing a recessional hymn.

A $150,000 Fire in New York.

New York, April 26.—Fire last night destroyed the building occupied by the Harlem Electric Lighting company, a church in the rear of it, and the carriage factory of J. J. Kepler & Co. The loss to the electric light company is estimated at $100,000 and to the church and factory $50,000. All the loss is covered by insurance.

The above bright and benevolent face, is Dr. A. W. Ackers, of England, discoverer of the celebrated Ackers' English Remedy for Consumption and other popular preparations. Dr. Ackers practiced in his younger days among the middle classes of London, and was the means of doing great good, but his health failed and he found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. While in this condition, he discovered the celebrated English Remedy, saved his own life and found himself in the grasp of consumption, with a wife and child depending upon him for support. NEWS FROM OKLAHOMA.

QUIETING DOWN IN THE TOWNS

OF THE NEW TERRITORY.

Indignation Against the Federal Officials

Needles to Be Investigated—

Affairs at Kingfisher.

GUTHRIE, Oklahoma, April 25.—A successful effort to organize a force of the arrival of some freight and baggage,

the development of a fairly good well, and twenty-four hours of moderate weather have impressed upon the minds of the

this crazy, crowded camp. The flight continues, but the influx does not abate.

It is a mockery of the truth to say that everything is moving in a satisfactory manner, without friction, and that the incoming settlers are cheerful. A more universal howl of indignation was never raised.

Less harmony south of bloody rioting is inconceivable. More dissatisfaction could not be felt, by a horde of people robbed and cheated by those they trusted to guard their rights. The honest settler got nothing. Railway company lieutenants,

Needles and his deputies, the soldier of the regular army, the Topeka syndicate, and a favored crowd of Santa Fe and federal attaches have grabbed everything. All the townsites and claims were taken by them in the forenoon.

There has been, and there still is, some deep chicanery in practice, which the courts must correct if a peaceful community is wanted in Oklahoma. The will be given the opportunity to do their duty, as nearly every gobbled claim has its claimant who did not enter the Territory until 12 o'clock. Many honest settlers have driven from their present stopping places. Orders to that effect have been issued by Gen. Merritt and Capt. Hayes expects to carry them out in a day or two.

There are now only a few families

camped in wagons along the line which divides the outlet from Oklahoma and stretched along for miles this side of it.

Nearly all of them are in a condition of poverty, and but few have the means and less the disposition to move on. Nearly all of them express the determination to remain in the strip until that country is opened to settlement. Capt. Hayes will carry out the orders of Gen. Merritt, and a great deal of suffering, if not actual bloodshed, is feared in consequence.

Another danger which threatens these unfortunate settlers is the probable rising

of the Ponca Indians, on whose reservation

most of them are located. It is understood here that the Poncas held a war dance

last night and resolved to dig up the hatchets in case their lands are encroached upon. The Ponca braves are not numerous, but very well armed. The settlers are not defenseless, as nearly every man in the territory carries a rifle and revolver. It is possible that the troops may be called upon to defend the settlers from the Indians, or the Indians from the settlers, before the trouble is ended.

SICKNESS IN OKLAHOMA.

Many Cases of Pneumonia Reported—

Arkansas City, Kan., April 25.—Gen.

Merritt's report is believed here to be ridiculous. There are between 50,000 and 75,000 people in the Territory. Guthrie is fully settled, and the population of the territory has made his headquarters from the first at Oklahoma City, which has only about 3,000 people, and has not been able to hear from Kingfisher or

Pawnee. The first natural death in Oklahoma occurred at Oklahoma City yesterday. Thomas O'Neill, a young unmarried man from Marshall, Mo., died of a congestive chill brought on by exertion and exposure. Many cases of pneumonia are reported.

GRIEVED BY DISAPPOINTMENT.

Suicide of an Illinois Man Who Failed to Secure a Claim.

WINFIELD, Kan., April 25.—An unknown

man, apparently crazy, started pedestrians

yesterday afternoon by drawing a razor

across his throat, inflicting a slight gash.

Later he cut himself through the head and died. The man was from Illinois. From papers found on his person it was learned that he was Silas B. Kennedy, Ruma, Randolph county, Ill. Two men in the city to-day said they had seen Kennedy, who was from St. Louis to Guthrie and that all three had failed to get claims. It is supposed that the dead man's mind was unbalanced by his failure.

MURDERED HIS WIFE.

Louis Freidolph Shoots His Spouse for the Sake of a Few Cents.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Louis Freidolph, aged 23, is in arrest for the attempted murder of his wife, aged 19, at the house of her mother last night. The couple had been married about three years, during

most of which time the husband has done nothing to support the family but has led a dissipated life. The wife has been working in a box factory to keep him in money,

and of late he has been specially urgent

in his demands. Last night he came home in a sullen and quarrelsome mood and after some words with his wife he shot her in the forehead, inflicting wounds which will probably prove fatal, as the bullet entered the brain.

Fatal Collision in Tennessee.

GLEN MARY, Tenn., April 26.—A collision occurred here yesterday between two freight trains as a result of the carelessness of the engineer of one of them. The collision occurred a mile south of Glen

WHY IT WAS REVERSED.

The Judgment in the Heddies Case Was Held to Be Excessive

Errors Were Also Found in the Special Verdict of the Jury.

Private dispatches from Madison today indicate the grounds for reversal in the Heddies case. The chief grounds were the heavy damages given and certain errors in the finding of the jury.

It was claimed by the appellants that there was not sufficient proof of the engine's moving more than six miles an hour. It was also claimed that the jury could not say whether gates or flume were necessary or not, that being a matter the common council to decide.

The damages were held to be excessive, being the highest ever given in a case of the kind. The plea that the arguments of the counsel for the plaintiff unduly prejudiced the jury was not admitted.

AN ALDERMANIC DUTY.

ALDERMEN ROWE AND BAKER LOOK AFTER THEIR FENCES.

Alderman O. D. Rowe performed his first official duty outside of the council chamber this morning. Ever since his election he has been looking up the law on aldermanic rights and obligations, but when a somewhat ruffled tax payer came to him and said he wanted him to go out and "view the fences," the alderman from the first ward was puzzled. Properly looking after fences, he realized, was the duty of every politician, but it seemed to be a little early in the year.

"I guess you want Baker," he said. "His term is nearly out and his fences will need fixing a good deal sooner than mine will."

To settle the matter the democratic representative of the first ward was finally called out.

"It can't be me," he answered. "My friends do all the fence inspecting that is done for me."

The tax payer persisted that the fence was not a political one; that it was a line fence and he and his neighbor wanted the alderman to settle what part each piece of adjoining property should maintain.

"That's right," said an attorney who happened in just then. "According to an old law any dispute about partition fences or walls may be left to the ward aldermen in their capacity as 'fence viewers.'"

And the alderman, after listening to the explanation, went out meekly and followed the tax payer to the fence that had caused all the trouble.

CALLING THE CALENDAR.

Judge Bennett Goes Through The Criminal Calendar This Morning.

Pleas of Guilty Entered for Cotter and Higgins—Other Action Taken.

Judge Bennett called the criminal calendar for the April term this morning. The case of the State against Hall was continued, as were the cases against Eavor and Lightfoot. In the cases against Swenningson and Martin, motions were made to quash writs of certiorari.

Notification was given that in the case of the State against Cotter and the State against Higgins, pleas of guilty would be entered. John Winans was appointed as Higgins' attorney.

The case of the State against Gould was held open for settlement. The Green case was also held open for the present on account of the absence of witnesses.

Two cases—those of Charles A. Stewart, of this city, and George Lee, of Beloit, were set for trial.

MAKING IT HARDER.

WAYS OF KEEPING THE PIGS OUT IN THE CLOVER.

"Pigs in clover" still makes sleepless nights for Janesville people. But the original puzzle is now much too easy. A puzzle that can be done in thirty seconds is no puzzle at all.

"Put in more marbles," somebody suggested the other day when the matter was discussed.

The pigs were increased to eight. Even then they went in like so many sheep.

"Give 'em another gate," was the next proposal.

The second ring of postboard was made open in front and on one side as well. The pigs found the second gate simply another place to get in and work toward the pen. Dick Briggs and other experts complained that the game was too easy—each pig seemed to think that supper was waiting in that little place in the center and went for it with a rush. They were giving up in despair when another man who found his intellect more than a match for the ordinary puzzle came to their aid. He suggested using six marbles instead of four, four small ones for "pigs" and two large ones for "drivers." They are to be run in all together until the sty is reached, when the "swine" and their drivers must be separated by putting the pigs in the "sty" and then taking the drivers back to the outside ring again. Should a pig get out of the sty while the drivers are being worked into the outside circle, both drivers are required to go back and see that the pigs are all secured before starting out again.

With this improvement the puzzle's record is cleared up once more and its friends are happy.

JOSEPH SEES JANESVILLE.

THE WELL KNOWN LECTURER, JOSEPH COOK, IN THE CITY.

A slaggly haired man of massive proportions stood in the Milwaukee & St. Paul waiting room this morning looking down Academy streets. At the Myers house last night he was registered as "Joseph Cook, Boston" and standing in the depot his resemblance to the Joseph Cook, pictured by Bill Nye as staying up nights for fear the universe might get out of gear and need his help was striking one. Recognition would not have been difficult even to an entire stranger.

"I am on my way east," rumbled Mr. Cook in the deep bass with which so many audiences have been made familiar, "and I stepped over for a short time to look into the Edgerton bible case. In Boston the case has attracted a great deal of attention on account of its being the first of the kind ever tried. We think down there that Judge Bennett's decision was right, and I was anxious to get it in full. The appeal will be watched in the east with a great deal of interest."

Mr. Cook spoke Wednesday night at Marinette. He reached Janesville late yesterday afternoon and left this morning having an engagement to-night at Freeport. His lecture season is practically ended and he is on his way toward Boston. During the past two weeks he has been in Duluth and St. Paul and spoke of the former city especially as one having a great future.

POTTER'S MONEY ARRIVES.

THE TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED DOLLAR DRAW OF CHARLES A. COMES IN SIGHT.

Agent Potter, of the Northwestern, shook hands to-day with every man on Milwaukee street. He bought George H. Osgood the best suit of clothes he could find, his pockets overflowed with cigars, and in every way he gave indications of being richer than an Oklahoma land agent.

It all came from the little investment Mr. Potter made three weeks ago. Together with Will H. Cheesbro, Dick Briggs and several others, he had authorized George Osgood to invest two dollars in the Louisiana lottery. When the tickets came, he picked his out last and was a good deal surprised to find that one of his tickets had drawn two thousand and five hundred dollars, and the other an approximation price of five dollars. To-day he had crisp New York exchange from the Rock County National Bank for the $2,500, minus $6.20 for collection, and his happiness was easily explained.

A GROCERY CHANGES HANDS.

BER. J. DALY RESUMES CONTROL OF HIS OLD STAND.

Ber. J. Daly is once more in charge of his old grocery, 213 West Milwaukee street. When he turned the business over to his brother, R. H. Daly, some time ago, he was secured by note. Business has been dull of late and collections on grocery accounts have been slow, consequently it was thought best to avoid loss to either party by giving Mr. Daly possession on the note. The outstanding accounts will be sufficient to pay all liabilities and the business will probably be offered for sale.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

MAYOR J. W. ST. JOHN ISSUES A PROCLAMATION RECOMMENDING THE OBSERVANCE OF THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION.

On the 30th of April, 1889, the people of the United States will celebrate the centennial of George Washington's inauguration as president of the United States.

Everywhere throughout the land preparations are being made to observe with fitting solemnity and appropriate exercises this memorable anniversary.

In conformity with the proclamation of the President of the United States and the Governor of this State, I recommend to the citizens of Janesville, to celebrate the approaching anniversary in a suitable manner by a general suspension of daily vocations and also by closing all places of business throughout the city during the day, joining in religious services in their respective places of worship and assisting in the public exercises and decorations of public and private buildings.

JANESVILLE, WIS., APRIL 26, 1889.

WATCHES CHEAP.

ON EASY PAYMENTS—THE CLUB PLAN TO BE INTRODUCED BY A. F. HALL & CO., "THE RELIABLE JEWELERS."

While watches have, in times past, been considered a luxury, in these days they have become practically a necessity.

To provide a good watch is sometimes inconvenient if the whole amount of its value is required at once. To make it possible for every man, woman and child to supply themselves with a good watch, Messrs. A. F. Hall & Co., the "reliable jewelers" propose offering them.

This plan has been in successful operation in many of the larger cities for several years, and has become very popular as absolute satisfaction is guaranteed.

ITS ADVANTAGES.

First.—By paying only one dollar per week, the easiest possible method is offered to secure a watch.

Second.—The watches being purchased in large quantities from the makers and sold directly to the consumer, a large profit is saved to the members of the Club.

The principle upon which the goods are sold is an equitable one, as the members of the Club are practically a syndicate for the purchase of watches in large quantities at the lowest prices, and thus directly benefiting its members.

Clubs now starting under the management of the well-known and "reliable" jewelry firm of A. F. Hall & Co. is a sufficient guarantee that the business will be conducted honestly, and that no goods will be sold except those of the very highest quality. They will run two clubs commencing immediately and start others as soon as possible. The first will be for thirty-five weeks. Each member joining this club will pay one dollar per week for the full club term, and each week one member will draw a watch. The gentlemen's watch in this club is to be a 14 K, filled case, either hunting or open face, richly engraved, warranted to wear for twenty years, with a certificate from the Crescent Watch Case Co., as to its quality, and a full jeweled nickel movement of either Elgin or Waltham make. The ladies' watches are of solid 14 K, gold, tasteful designs, with Elgin movements fully guaranteed.

They propose to offer in the second club a higher grade watch for gentlemen with a solid 14 K, elegantly decorated case, and a fine full jeweled nickel Waltham or Elgin movement. This club will run for fifty weeks, each member paying one dollar per week. Ladies' watches in this club will be equal in value to those for gentlemen, and can be furnished with ornamental diamond cases. In this club, as in the other, one watch will be drawn each week.

They wish it distinctly understood that this plan has no element of chance in it as every member is sure to get his watch during the Club term. If after partial payment has been made a member desires to pay the remaining amount in full, without waiting for his number to be drawn, he can have his watch at once.

To any who may think well of this plan, but who has now a satisfactory watch, they will furnish diamonds, silverware, or anything in their line upon the same plan.

A CRAZY WOMAN'S RIDE.

SHE FRIGHTENS PASSENGERS AND IS PLACED UNDER ARREST.

"There is a crazy woman on the train. Meet us at the Janesville depot and get her."

This was the dispatch received by Officer Smith from the conductor of the Milton train last night. Officer Smith went to the depot and there was placed in his charge a tall, slender, light haired woman apparently fifty years of age. She had shown signs of insanity soon after boarding the train and from Milton to Janesville had been left as sole monarch.
